this positive outcome.”

All parties further committed to meeting with their governments to insist that NAFTA re-negotiations should be built on the principle of “doing no harm.”

NAFTA discussions should seek:

- Increased and improved regulatory alignment.
- Improved flow of goods at border crossings.
- Further alignment of sanitary and phytosanitary measures using a science-based approach.
- Elimination of non-science based technical barriers to trade.

- Revisions that reflect technological advances since implementation such as digital trade, etc.

Agriculture industries in each NAFTA country would greatly suffer from disruptions to trading relationships developed over the last 23 years.

Farmers have increased productivity and improved their competitiveness to address the rapidly growing demand worldwide for healthy and sustainable food products. Losses due to NAFTA changes would severely stunt this progress.

AFBF, CFA and CNA are committed to working with their respective administrations to ensure that a modernized NAFTA continues to be a success story for all farmers.

Initiative has satellite offices in Herkimer, Otsego, Schoharie and Sullivan counties where we meet with clients for free consultations. The Rural Law Initiative only offers brief consultations, but we will do our best to connect you to local practitioners if you require a more comprehensive attorney-client relationship.

With time, we hope to expand the network of rurally available attorneys.

The Rural Law Initiative can offer advice on: business formation and corporate formalities; environmental and land-use regulations; licensing and certification requirements; Federal and New York State programs and incentives for businesses; contract review, and other legal issues facing rural businesses. This initiative is a work in progress, and will adapt to the legal needs of rurally-based businesses as they arise. The Rural Law Initiative is currently developing educational workshops on legal topics most relevant to small businesses.

Entrepreneurs and business owners who attend will hopefully walk out empowered to run stronger enterprises, with added knowledge on how to reduce their legal liabilities and risks, and fresh ideas on how they can grow.

For more information please visit our website at www.albanylaw.edu/RuralLaw, or call the Government Law Center at (518) 445-2329. If you are interested in becoming a client of the Rural Law Initiative, please fill out an intake form available on our website.

We're excited to service the rural communities of New York, and we look forward to learning more from those communities about what they need and how we can help.

If you are a rural attorney and would like to collaborate with the Rural Law Initiative, we welcome your call.
