

Promotion & Education Open Session at SAM

The Promotion and Education Open Session held on Tuesday, Dec. 5, 2017, will include a workshop titled “How Do I Answer That Question”. We will focus on some major areas where the questions can be a bit ticklish and explore the best ways to provide an answer. We all can use a bit of help in this area, so come and learn with us! Share some of your best answers. An additional workshop is being considered, but not confirmed, so check with us as we continue our planning.

Sharing of programs and projects will also be accomplished in several ways. We will be able to visually demonstrate the vast diversification of events throughout New York State as we highlight pictures representing the hundreds of events held in counties by and with members. In addition, Promotion and Education Committee members will also provide a district report of events which will be distributed to attendees so they can continue their R & D (rip off and duplication).

Our Business Session Luncheon (reservations are required) will be held immediately after our Open Session, where we will have the opportunity to elect our State Promotion and Education Committee representatives from all the even-numbered New York Farm Bureau districts as well as the chair.
