

The 2019 Ag Promotion & Education Summit – An Opportunity for Everyone

The NYFB State Promotion & Education Committee has been working on putting together just the right ingredients for a Summit on Nov. 2 – 3, 2019 in Syracuse, New York. A Saturday to Sunday event that will not only be full of interactive workshops but will host a keynote speaker who will also host a workshop. We will soon be releasing information. We will let you know that our speaker is passionate about teaching the story of sustainable agriculture and the role of science, technology and innovation in how we grow and raise food.

Several rounds of workshop choices will be offered, which will strengthen Farm Bureau members and empower them to do the job. The committee is working on the final selection of workshops and speakers and presenters. The full committee is excited and enthusiastic about what we can do and what this summit will provide. We all need to be part of the team that spreads the word and shares the excitement. Watch for more details very soon. Your committee members are putting your requests at the top of the list. Not only will we have learning and doing experience, but we will have the chance to network with counties from across the state.

Members of NYFB State Pro-Ed Committee, L-R: Bernadette Harwood, Nora Carnes, Heather Prokop, Jessica Currie, Jami Willard, Karen Lohr, Debbie Teeter, Phyllis Couture and Patti Fisher. Missing from photo: Katherine Rossette, Nancy Trzcinski, Linda Fix, Mary Stephens and Jeanette Miller.