Schoharie County Farm Bureau is proud of the progress it's made this year and has an exciting calendar of events for the upcoming year. From a reinvigorated Young Farmers & Ranchers group and an expanded agricultural literacy program in local schools, to a winter workshop series to help members promote and market their farm and products, county Farm Bureau is listening to your ideas and making change happen. We are advocating on your behalf for policy and legislation that benefits agriculture and promoting resolutions and propositions that are farmer driven.

If you're a new member, we welcome you and would like to hear your thoughts, concerns and opinions. If you're a continuing member, your voice at the table is valued and your commitment to Farm Bureau and its mission to serve and strengthen agriculture is appreciated. If you're a local farmer or agricultural enthusiast whose membership has lapsed, contact a county board member and learn about the changes Farm Bureau has made, the value in being a member and to discuss how Farm Bureau can better serve you.

Grassroots changes start with our members. Thank you for your membership and we look forward to seeing you on Sept. 13.
