

Genesee County Farm Bureau Attends NYFB Lobby Days in Albany March 1-3

Members from Genesee County Farm Bureau participated in numerous Lobby Day zoom meetings with various members of the Senate explaining concerns effecting our farming communities.

Some of the more important ideas discussed

- Support critical funding for current agricultural animal health, promotion, research and environmental programs in the final FY 21/22 state budget
- Continue investment in the Nourish-NY program which has supported over 4,152 farms
- Invest/harmonize Agricultural Programs at State Agricultural Colleges and Universities, including CALS, Morrisville, Cobleskill and Alfred
- Remove overtime requirement for voluntary day of rest for workers, if the employee will not work the number of hours needed to receive overtime
- Extend the statutorily required farm housing inspection deadline for houses with 4 or less employees to January 1, 2022
- Oppose legislative pesticide prohibition or ban bills that circumvent the registration process at the Department of Environmental Conservation
- Support farmers in their efforts to adapt to and mitigate climate change through funding of critical programs in the Environmental Protection Fund and legislative programs that support on farm mitigation, including renewable energy
- Enact a stat renewable fuels standard to help mitigate methane while providing a reliable low carbon fuel source
- Oppose efforts to further restrict the use of medically necessary preventative and therapeutic use of antibiotics
- Ensure continued use of veterinarian and scientifically based animal care practices on farm
- Increase access to rural broadband to allow for enhanced marketing and sales, along with greater utilization of farm equipment technology

2021 STATE PRIORITIES

New York Farm Bureau works every day to advocate for agricultural industry and our rural communities. We identify key issues that directly and indirectly impact agriculture through a structured, grassroots policy development process that reflects the collective interests of our members. These policies determine the focus of our advocacy discussion and action for the year ahead.

New York Farm Bureau's Board of Directors has established the following state priority issues for 2021:

- Support critical funding for current agricultural animal health, promotion, research and environmental programs in the final FY 21/22 state budget.
- Continue investment in the Nourish-NY program.
- Invest/harmonize agricultural programs at state agricultural colleges and universities, including CALS, Morrisville, Cobleskill and Alfred.
- Remove overtime requirement for voluntary day of rest for workers, if the employee will not work the number of hours needed to receive overtime.
- Extend the statutorily required farm housing inspection deadline for houses with four or less employees to Jan. 1, 2022.
- Oppose legislative pesticide prohibition or ban bills that circumvent the registration process at the Department of
- Environmental Conservation.
- Support farmers in their efforts to adapt to and mitigate climate change through funding of critical programs in the Environmental Protection Fund and legislative programs that support on-farm mitigation, including renewable energy.
- Enact a state renewable fuels standard to help mitigate methane while providing a reliable low carbon fuel source.
- Oppose efforts to further restrict the use of medically necessary preventative and therapeutic use of antibiotics.
- Ensure continued use of veterinarian and scientifically-based animal care practices on farm.
- Increase access to rural broadband to allow for enhanced marketing and sales, along with greater utilization of farm equipment technology.

AGRICULTURAL LITERACY WEEK

MARCH 15-19, 2021

Each year, for one week in March, a Celebration of Agriculture is brought into classrooms throughout the United States. Agricultural Literacy Week is intended to introduce children to the importance of the agricultural industry and helps them to have an awareness of where their food comes from. Introducing children to agricultural literacy is done through pre-selected books read to classrooms with additional activities reinforcing the ideas that are introduced.

This year's selection is "Chuck's Ice Cream Wish (Tales of the Dairy Godmother)". Written by Viola Butler with illustrations by Ward Jenkins, the story has Chuck's dairy godmother take his wish for ice cream and introduce him to the work that farmers do everyday taking care of the cows to get the milk to make the ice cream.

This year, Genesee County Farm Bureau is pleased once again to support Agricultural Literacy Week by purchasing the books being read to classes. These books will then be donated to school and classroom libraries so that all children can learn the importance and value that agriculture brings to our communities.

Scholarship Available For High School Seniors

Genesee County Farm Bureau is once again offering a scholarship for graduating seniors who are continuing their education beyond high school through a trade school or a two or four year collegiate program related to agriculture. The award will go to the child of a regular or associate member of the county Farm Bureau. Scholarship applications are available from the regional office or on the website at www.geneseecountymfbureau.com.

The award decision will be based on:

- involvement in agriculture and the applicant's stated intentions to remain involved in agriculture;
- scholastic participation;
- activities; and
- application responses and essays.

The scholarship committee will review all applications and make a final decision about the award recipient. Completed applications must be returned to the office no later than April 30, 2021. Interviews will be held if necessary.

Award recipient will be notified by June 1. Please share with graduating seniors you may know!

Spring 2021

President's Report

By Bruce Naas

I hope everyone has had a safe and healthy winter. Hopefully the warm weather and the increase of covid vaccinations will bring a reprieve from the virus giving us the ability to get out and see the neighbors.

Your county F.B. has been active throughout the winter months with our "new normal". These included monthly zoom meetings, emails, and our recent virtual lobby days. We have been pushing for vaccinations for all farm employees, a moratorium on farm overtime issues, as well as a closer look at proposed chemical/pesticide restrictions coming from New York State.

As spring and summer approach, I have renewed faith that we will once again be able to conduct in-person meetings, talk with you at your farm, and safely bring our elected officials out to see how we do business. I sincerely hope we can capitalize on the growing trend from the consumer to know where their food comes from, how it is produced and why we do what we do to provide the best quality and value anywhere in the world.

Hopefully we can use these topics to build stronger relationships with our folks in Albany. This definitely will be a year to highlight how and why we farm.
